GUEST SPEAKER

Professor Dawn Rowe

PhD Founder/President & CEO of Girl Vow, Inc., Founder of The National Taskforce Missing and Murdered Girls of Color Women & Girls Trauma Expert

Named by Madam Noire and Hello Beautiful as #SPEAKHER50, named as Power Woman of the Bronx 2023, and Unsung Champions of Advocacy Awards 2024. Before becoming the Founder of Girl Vow, Inc., Dawn was once slated for an alternative to incarceration education program and placed in a drop-out prevention program during high school while struggling with suicidal ideation. The fear of being placed in an institutional setting and the threat of parental abandonment led Dawn to drop out of high school. However, her love for academics and encouragement from mentors motivated her to attend an alternative high school, where she ultimately earned her high school equivalency diploma. Today, Dawn is a professor at John Jay College of Criminal Justice, the founder of The National Taskforce for Missing and Murdered Girls of Color, and a writer of policy and legislation in New York State against gender-based violence.
